Local experts like U-Med Branch Manager Kippy Lane offer fellow Alaskans financial solutions to meet their personal and business banking needs.

Celebrating 20-, 25-, and even 35-and 40-year employment anniversaries is a regular occurrence at First National Bank Alaska. Why do employees stay so long?

Competitive salaries, good benefits and a pleasant working environment—in thirty locations across the Great Land—tell only part of the story. Employees also appreciate that they and some 650 colleagues are united in working toward the worthiest of goals—helping Alaskans reach their dreams.

Every day employees provide high quality banking services and contribute to community organizations and non-profits, knowing their efforts will help lead to a better quality of life for their friends and neighbors.

Well, they can tell you better themselves:

"What I do at First National makes a difference in my rural community. And as an outdoor enthusiast, I live, work and explore in one of the world's greatest natural playgrounds."

—Aurora Agee
Healy Branch Manager

"The training and support I receive working at First National not only advanced my career but helped me shape my personal growth."

—Ryan Bargelski
North Star Branch
Operations Supervisor

"At First National, we give employees the resources and the environment to do the best job possible. The result is a team of local experts who help their fellow Alaskans build homes, send their kids to college and realize business dreams."

—Betsy Lawer, Chair and President

"In a smaller town like Homer, you really get to know the people you serve. I love that feeling of community. And when you're able to help with solutions to meet their financial challenges ... well, that's money in the bank to me."

—Kerry Thompson
